

For Release 9 a.m. AST
Today

OutCast! Productions game Naughty Night Bed Sack Now Available

New game adding spice back to the bedroom

ALASKA — OutCast! Productions, LLC has just released their Improvisation game for the bedroom, the Naughty Night Bed Sack. After extensive (well maybe extensive is too harsh a word) research into what others were doing in the bedroom (game division), OutCast! determined they didn't want the players to "learn more about their partner on a deeper level" and they certainly didn't want them "reading cards" while trying to get romantic. They also didn't care that a game had 50,000 different ways to be played. Who really plays a game more than 15,000 times anyway? What they wanted was simple. They wanted a game that was easy to play, offered creative fun for the bedroom, and is washable. Well, no one requested it be washable, but it is. What a bonus! Honestly? A washable improv game for the bedroom: What's next?

Check out the Naughty Night Bed Sack and see why couples all over the world will soon be "rediscovering" that life in the bedroom isn't just about sleep.

Available online at <http://www.outcastproductions.com> or by calling Elisa Hitchcock, Chief Sales Officer at 907-440-4252

###

For more information, press only:

Kimberley Gray, CMO, 907-764-1461

Elisa Hitchcock, CSO, 907-440-4252

Dennis Thurston, CCO, 907-301-9650